For the annotated bibliography, students need 20 sources. Students must make use of the following four types of sources: books (print), periodicals (academic periodicals and/or scholarly journals), newspapers, and Web. Other types of sources may be used in addition to the above mentioned four.

Annotations should include a summary of the source, a statement of credibility for the source, and an explanation of the source’s relevance to your research thesis. We will be discussing the elements of this assignment extensively in class.
